Discover the incredible legacy of flight at the Niagara Aerospace Museum, located at the Niagara Falls International Airport. Dedicated to Western New York's profound impact on aviation history, the museum showcases a century of innovation from local titans like Bell Aircraft and Curtiss-Wright.

Explore a world-class collection featuring the first commercially licensed helicopter, the legendary Bell P-39 Airacobra, and the revolutionary Lunar Module Ascent Engine that powered astronauts off the moon. From the iconic Curtiss JN-4 "Jenny" to cutting-edge rocket technology, experience the stories of the engineers and pilots who changed the world—right in our own backyard.
